Now in its 16th year

Legal Project Management Training Certification Workshop

Virtual | March 10, 17, 24 & 31, 2026

Presented by Susan Raridon Lambreth – Principal, LawVision and LPM Institute

Why Learn Legal Project Management?

Lawyers and other legal professionals are focusing on LPM for the following reasons:

- An increasing number of clients are pushing for fee estimates, scoping of work and greater efficiencies in the handling of their work;
- Better use of LPM techniques can help reduce legal spend and increase predictability for law departments and minimize significant write-offs and write-downs for law firms;
- Enhanced LPM can lead to opportunities to win more RFPs;
- A growing number of clients are asking for trained legal project managers on their matters; and
- Application of LPM approaches create greater internal teamwork, enhance lawyer and staff morale / retention and improve client relationships.

Reasons to Attend:

Legal project management is an essential skill for lawyers and other legal professionals. It can help ensure greater client satisfaction, more profitable matters, and more satisfying work.

This workshop provides a simple, yet powerful framework for applying LPM techniques and approaches to your legal matters immediately. The workshop is highly interactive. You learn from the instructors and the others in the workshop using a case study based on actual legal matters.

The Program:

The program provides:

- An understanding of all of the key legal project management concepts and how to talk to your clients credibly about them
- Examples of how legal departments and law firms are implementing LPM for different types of practice areas
- A skills-based approach to learning the fundamental LPM techniques such as stakeholder analysis, scoping of work, project plans and budgets, managing scope changes and conducting end-of-matter debriefs
- An understanding of the new CLOC approach to LPM
- The LPM Institute LaunchPad™ Certificate in Fundamentals of Legal Project Management that can help you differentiate from other legal professionals.

The primary elements of our programs include:

- Upfront discussion of client's objectives / expectations – including ensuring the firm and client are on the "same page" and that all members of the legal team understand these
- Understanding the key decision-makers in the client who can affect the legal outcomes and success of a matter
- Detailed "scoping" of work – whether on an AFA or simply for a budget / fee estimate
- Breaking down the work into component parts to develop more accurate budgets and to be able to manage the work and the legal team efficiently and effectively
- Development of budgets and management of the matter to the budgets – managing the matter and variations from plan / changes in scope; managing budget to actual
- More active management of the matter throughout, including task assignment and monitoring assignment completion
- Enhanced project team and client communications
- Dealing with scope changes throughout a matter
- End of matter debriefing / lessons learned

You should attend:

- If you are interested in adding to your skill set a thorough understanding of LPM to apply to your matters.
- If you are implementing LPM in your legal organization and want to take your efforts to a new level.
- If you want to learn new LPM skills but also learn from other participants about how their firms are implementing LPM.

Why attend this program:

Earn the LPM LaunchPad™ Certificate in Fundamentals of Legal Project Management

The consultants with LawVision were the first to offer a certification in legal project management in early 2010. Now in its sixteenth year, the LPM Institute Training Program offers attorneys and other legal professionals the opportunity to earn the LPM Certificate and understand how to apply the essential elements of legal project management to their matters. The course is taught by leading experts who have trained over 10,000 lawyers and other legal professionals in project management, leadership, and practice management, and who have industry experience from organizations who embraced project management concepts long before law firms. This skills-based workshop uses a mixture of case studies based on actual legal work, small group exercises and short lectures to teach participants the skills they need to exceed client expectations for efficient and effective legal work.

A workshop-style approach where participants can learn specific skills and approaches to apply immediately to manage projects more efficiently and effectively.

Valuable material to take home, including a course book with templates, guides and other instructional materials, as well as a Quick Reference Guide — a handy tool for applying key elements of legal project management when back at the office.

LPM Institute was founded as an informational resource to law firms and legal departments on developing and implementing LPM in their organizations. The Institute offers legal project management and process improvement training courses, consulting, and informational resources for LPM. Susan Raridon Lambreth, Principal with LawVision and a former Hildebrandt partner for over 20 years founded the Institute. She and Carla Landry developed the first certification course in project management for lawyers in early 2010 and since then, over 6,000 lawyers have taken these courses, including over well over 1,000 who have completed the certification.

Quotes from Past Attendees:

Catherine Olsen, Director of Pricing and Project Management, Dechert LLP "This program exceeded my expectations. It provided the concepts of legal project management as well as the skills to apply these concepts in the firm to make an immediate impact. The practical exercises and case studies encouraged in-depth discussions and allowed me to hear how other legal professionals are using the tools of LPM. I would strongly recommend this training to anyone looking to integrate LPM methodology into his or her firm."

Carla B. Adams, Director of Client Accounts, Morrison & Foerster LLP "The course has been amazing. I wish I had taken this earlier. I have a better sense of what it takes to operationalize some of our clients' requirements. You have struck the right balance of instruction and hands-on learning."

Dominie Banfield, head of Legal Project Management at Allens, Asia-Pacific "LawVision's legal project management training was excellent for our partners and senior associates. It helped them develop a strong set of skills in project management and offered them a changed perspective for engaging with clients. Ms. Lambreth was excellent – engaging and knowledgeable – and we all gained a lot from the workshop."

Shaun Temby, Partner at Maddocks Lawyers (formerly with Norton Rose Fulbright), Sydney "I found this seminar to be an excellent introduction to both the concept of legal project management and also the business case for introducing this methodology to my practice. The seminar had a strong practical component and attendees will leave the seminar with a suite of tools that they can apply in their everyday working life to improve their project management capabilities. This seminar is a must for legal and support staff that are interested in the concept of legal project management but new to its everyday workings."

Marina Makanova, Former Project Director at Dentons US LLP: "Legal Project Management training offers a wealth of information on the subject. The modules in this course address critical issues with clear explanation of problems and how to deal with them step by step. I also found it highly beneficial to be in the room with other professionals facing similar challenges and exchanging ideas about ways to tackle them."

Alex Rahm, Department Operating Officer at Kilpatrick Townsend & Stockton remarked that the workshop was "very effective and well worth the time" adding that "the course provides an excellent framework for legal project management and includes practical exercises and approaches that one can immediately apply. I would recommend it for all those looking to implement project management and those needing a refresher course on effective project management."
